Councillor Southgate then presented to Cabinet some options to potentially mitigate the cost of reconsidering those savings. The options included lowering the assumed rate of inflation for the forthcoming year from 1.5% to 0.5%, which he suggested would be worth £1million. Another option would be the use of the adult social care precept. Councillor Southgate said that a 2% precept would increase Band D council tax by £22 but that, as the GLA was cutting its precept by £19 for a band D, that would result in a net rise of £3. He added that a 1.7% precept would result in no change to council tax levels but would raise an extra £1.35million for adult social care on an ongoing basis.

The Cabinet Member for Environmental Sustainability and Regeneration presented the report which sort approval to explore more in-depth options for a shared service between the London Boroughs of Merton and Sutton and the Royal Borough of Kingston for specific elements of the planning service. It was explained that there were a number of reasons for the proposed investigation including that across local government planning services, they were all struggling to keep staff as the private sector were paying more and were headhunting staff as a result. A further reason was as a result of the Planning and Housing Act 2015, it had potential to open up the opportunity that planning applications processing be opened up to the commercial market place.
